Format your report text

Activity · Slide Decks · ~10 min

BEFORE YOU START

☐ You have a slide with interpretation text that needs structure (a heading, a bulleted list, or some bold emphasis)

☐ The slide is open in the editor

WHY IT MATTERS

Plain paragraphs hide the message. A heading, a few bullets, and one bolded phrase pull the reader through the slide in the order you want.

The shortcuts

You can format text using simple symbols, the same way you would in a chat message. The editor turns the symbols into formatted text as soon as you save.

Symbol	Result
`# Heading`	Large heading
`## Subheading`	Smaller heading
`bold`	bold
Start a line with `-` (a hyphen)	Bullet point
Leave a blank line	Add spacing

Try it

1. Open one of your existing slides and click into the text area.
2. Turn the first line into a heading by adding `##` in front of it.
3. Pick one phrase that carries the key message and wrap it in `…` to bold it.
4. If the slide has more than one idea, split them into bullets by starting each line with `-`.
5. Save and check the rendered slide.

Checkpoint

Your slide should now have:

- A heading or subheading that names what the slide is about
- Bullets where you have a list, rather than a single paragraph
- One or two phrases bolded for emphasis (not more, or the emphasis loses force)

What could go wrong

- The symbols still show on the rendered slide — you probably forgot the space after the `#` or `-`. The shortcut needs the space (`# Heading` , not `#Heading`).
- Everything is bolded — `` wrap only the phrase you want to emphasize, not whole paragraphs.
- Bullets run into each other — leave a blank line between bullets and the next paragraph to add spacing.
